DEATH'S HAND

Laid Upon Sebastian Hub-buck, an Honored Citizen.

Full of years and honor, a credit to the country of his birth and to the land of his adoption, Sebastian Hubbuck, one of our oldest German-American citizens, passed into eternal rest on Friday of last week. He had been in ill health for several months and the end was not unexpected. He was fully prepared to die and died the life of a just man.

Mr. Hubbuck was born in Freiberg, Baden, Germany, sixty-nine years ago. When quite a boy his family removed to America and settled in Louisville. He learned the molder's trade, but in 1873 he engaged in the wall paper business, opening a store on Market street near Eleventh. A few years later his brothers, Joseph, Charles, Otto and Philip, were taken into partnership with him and founded the well known firm of Hubbuck Bros. They prospered from the start. Mr. Hubbuck was known as one of Louisville's most prosperous, generous, useful and public spirited business men. He identified himself with every public movement. His death is a great loss to the community.

He leaves a wife and the following children: Mrs. George Gruber, Mrs. Charles Hollenbach, Mrs. William Winter, Mrs. Joseph Dahlem, Misses Katherine and Alice Hubbuck and John Hubbuck. The deceased was a devout member of St. Anthony's church and was also one of the oldest members of the Knights of St. George. The funeral took place at St. Anthony's church at 9 o'clock Monday morning. A large concourse of friends followed his remains to their last resting place in St. Michael's cemetery. May he rest in peace.

FATHER BAX'S JUBILEE.

Weekly meetings of the parishioners of St. John's church continue to be held, and arrangements for the golden jubilee celebration of the ordination of the Very Rev. Father Bax to the holy priesthood are pushed with vigor. Different nights are set apart for the young and old men, and the rivalry as to which will do the most remains unabated. Last Tuesday night a number of encouraging reports were received, and only minor parts of the programme remain to be provided for. All indications point to a celebration in every way worthy the occasion and the venerable jubilarian.

MAUD GONNE

Engaged to Major John Mc-
Bride, the Boer War Hero.

Their Wedding Announced to Occur Very Soon in Paris.

Life Story of Beautiful Woman
Who Espoused Ireland's Cause.

THE BRIDE BECOMES A CATHOLIC

Maud Gonne, the "Irish Joan of Arc," and John McBride, the organizer and leader of the Irish brigade in the Boer war, are soon to be married in Paris. The match is an ideal one, when characters and the history of Major McBride and Miss Gonne are considered. Marriages of this kind do not take place more than once in a century, and hence the engagement of the two Irish enthusiasts—the one a brave soldier, the other a beautiful heiress—is an announcement of unusual interest. Before the marriage can take place, however, certain formalities must be complied with. The gallant Major is a Catholic and his fiancée is a Protestant. Miss Gonne therefore is to join the former church before becoming the wife of the Boer leader. It is understood that for some time past she has been under a course of preparation and instruction at the Carmelite convent at Leval, and that next week she will be formally received into the church at that institution.

Miss Gonne has many warm admirers and friends in London, especially among the home rule section of the Liberal party, who like her as much as the ultra-Unionists hate her. Her great beauty, her youth and the glamor of her wealth, together with her passionate devotion to the cause of Irish liberty, has made her one of the most notable figures of the last quarter of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth. Miss Gonne inherited the wealth of her father, who was a rich Colonel of a regiment of the British army. She was born in Dublin Castle, and before her conversion to the cause of Ireland she was the pet of the Viceroy and in Dublin society. One day she saw an eviction and the sight so vividly impressed her that thenceforth she swore to live only for the uplifting of the Irish people and the righting of their wrongs.

Miss Gonne, of course, was ostracized by her anti-Irish acquaintances, but for some years she has been the ideal of the people of her adoption. She has made campaigns in half of the countries of Europe, especially France and Belgium. Major McBride lives in Paris. He was one of the conspicuous figures of the Boer war. He organized the redoubtable Irish brigade and fought with Joubert before Ladysmith. It was Major McBride who at the first step of invasion by the Boers over the border of Natal roused the unbounded enthusiasm of the burgher forces by carrying an Irish flag into British territory and waving it proudly above his head.

MACAULEY'S.

Herbert Kelcey and Miss Effie Shannon will appear at Macauley's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week with a matinee on Wednesday. They will produce William Gillette's great play, "Sherlock Holmes." This drama has produced favorable criticism in the East and has attracted great audiences. The sale of seats began on Thursday. Thus far the seats have sold rapidly.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

Della Fox, the pretty little girl with the dainty blonde curl that hangs right down on her forehead, heads the list of attractions that comes to the Hopkins Theater next week. Besides there will be Al Leach and the three Rosebuds in their schoolroom sketch; the magnetic Nellie Hawthorne; Eckert and Berg; Roberts, Haynes and Roberts; Fox and Foxie; Chris Lane and the ever pleasing biograph.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Jolly Grass Widows will be the next attraction at the Buckingham Theater, beginning with tomorrow's matinee. This aggregation of talent will present the grand spectacular review, "Before the Dawn." In the olio are such well known vaudeville artists as Hafford and Worth, Paulo and Dika, Carrie Fulton, Harry Seebach, Wink and Mack, Burkhardt and Moore, McFarland and Murry, Monroe and Marshall. There will be the usual matinees.

CHICKASAW.

Memphis Council Elects Former Louisville Man
President.

Among the numerous Catholic societies of Memphis, Tenn., none are more active than Chickasaw Council, Y. M. I., which is composed largely of the most influential young men of that city. There has been a new life awakened there since the first of the year, and the newly installed officers report that they have gone to work to double the membership and want two delegates at the coming grand convention. The officers for 1903 are:

President—M. J. Carrigan.
First Vice President—William Gavin.
Second Vice President—James J. Daugherty.
Recording Secretary—F. M. Devine.
Corresponding Secretary—P. M. Byrne.
Financial Secretary—William E. Sullivan.

Treasurer—George A. Lawo.
Marshal—Joseph J. Dorian.
Medical Examiner—Dr. Stephen E. Rice.

Inside Sentinel—John J. Bishop.
Outside Sentinel—Daniel C. Newton.
Executive Committee—L. S. Lawo, W. B. Hoffman, A. W. Higgins.

Chickasaw was fortunate in the selection of its President. Mr. Carrigan is a hustler and a man of much executive ability. He formerly resided in Louisville and was a member of Mackin Council. His friends here will all be pleased to learn of the honor bestowed upon him. W. B. Hoffman, who is also well known here, is another hustling member, and with two such men at the helm Chickasaw should rapidly come to the front.

Mrs. Anna Maria Neumeyer, the beloved wife of Jacob Neumeyer, died at the family residence, 725 East Breckinridge street, last Saturday morning. The deceased lady was sixty-six years old. The funeral services were held at St. Martin's church last Monday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

John S. King, the well known horse-shoer, died of pneumonia Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Bridget Foley, 823 East Jefferson streets. His birth occurred on the ocean, while his parents were on their way to this country from Ireland. Mr. King was prominent in labor circles and a devout member of St. Michael's church, from which his funeral took place Thursday morning. The Horsehoers' Union and a large number of his friends attended the solemn obsequies.

Mrs. Annie McGinty, who died on Sunday evening, was buried from St. Philip Neri's church at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery. Mrs. McGinty was the wife of Patrick McGinty, a farmer who lives five miles from Louisville, on the Preston street road. She was taken ill on Saturday, and though the end came quickly she was granted the grace of a happy death. Rev. Father Ackermann administered the last sacrament and remained with her till the end. May she rest in peace.

In the death of John Toomey, which occurred Saturday morning, the community lost an honest and revered citizen. Death resulted from gastric rheumatism. Mr. Toomey was born in Ireland nearly seventy years ago. When quite a young man he came to America. When the civil war broke out he espoused the cause of the Union and fought valiantly for the "Stars and Stripes." After the war he removed to Louisville where he lived until his death. For more than twenty years he was an employee of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and a devout member of St. Louis Bertrand church. A few months ago the family removed to 2139 Bank street, where Mr. Toomey died last Saturday. He was buried from St. Cecilia's church at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery. Mr. Toomey leaves a wife and three sons, Stephen, John and Edward, to mourn his loss. May his soul rest in peace.
